fertilizer that we pay for input in our corn producing plants out there. Fertilizer prices have doubled in the past two years, and it is causing a crunch in rural Nebraska. I don't know if that's a legitimate concern or not. Senator Warner and Senator Wehrbein, if you're listening, I would like to have you explain to me how we're going to tax the corn that comes from Iowa to Nebraska to the Cargill plant. They will purchase the corn in Iowa, pay the Iowa check-off, the corn will be owned by Cargill before it crosses the river, it will never change hands, it will be processed here and our check-off fund will be sitting there high and dry while they're paying the Iowa check-off for corn that's processed in Blair. Maybe I'm wrong there, but maybe when this amendment has been voted upon you can explain that to be, because I don't think there's any way we can tax Iowa corn purchased by Cargill as it crosses the river. Cargill will own the corn, it will never change hands in the State of Nebraska. And so I just think that I have a worthwhile amendment here and I'd appreciate your support.
